AMERICANS THE BEST IN WORLD

Most Spectacular Battle In The History Of American Baseballdom Ended Yesterday.

CUB IDOLS FELL WITH A THUD

Comiskey, Overjoyed At The Success Of His Protoges, Presented Them With $15,000--Local Fans Stunned By News.

The baseball excitement is over and the Chicago American league team, the White Sox, is champion of the United States and the world. The title was won by the overwhelming defeat of the National league team yesterday afternoon by the score of 8 to 3. This closes the most spectacular fight for a pennant in the history of American baseballdom. Local fans who had backed the Cubs to win, and they were in the majority, were almost speechless with amazement and chagrin when the final came in over the wires late in the afternoon.

Pandemonium reigned in Chicago. The scene at the baseball field suggested a mammoth insane asylum delivery. The successful players were literally mobbed by their friends and their clothes torn to pieces for souvenirs.

The story of the game is the story of the demerit of Mortimer Brown as the best pitcher in the National league and his retirement to the limbo to which the Sox consigned Reulbach and Pfister on Saturday. Before the second inning was over Comiskey's "hitless wonders" had made eight hits off the three-fingered miner, of which two were two-baggers. He couldn't have won if he had had six fingers on his pitching arm, and he joined Taylor, Ludgren, Reulbach and a few substitutes sitting gloomily on the bench.

Seven runs were assembled by the White Sox before Mr. Brown was tanned and in the eighth inning they grabbed off another just to be sure. Overall, who was first aid to the injured, felled up six more hits to the sluggers and when the game was done the Cubs had gathered only three runs from seven hits off Dr. White.

President Charles A. Comiskey was jubilant. He handed a check for $15,000 to Manager Jones to be divided among his men.

It was twenty years ago to the day that the Sox defeated Anson's old White Stockings in the last game of the memorable series in ten innings by the score of 4 to 3. Again, in 1887, did Comiskey win the world's honors, but the dearest victory of all was the humbling yesterday of the strongest team that the National league ever had.

The White Sox, who came from absolutely nowhere in the American league pennant chase and won the flag, showed beyond the shadow of a doubt that they were the masters of Frank Chance's great machine, Minor Brown, acknowledged to be the best pitcher of the season in the old league, was buried under an avalanche of hits at the start of the game.

TRIAL OF HARRY K. THAW LONG WAY OFF

Popular Belief In New York Is That Murderer of Stanford White Will Go to Insane Asylum.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Oct. 15.—This was the date originally set for the beginning of Harry Thaw's trial for the murder of Architect Stanford White, but so far as can be learned there is not likely to be anything doing in the case of the young millionaire for some time to come. Opinion is gaining ground that all concerned will agree to have the accused young man taken to the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane and the publicity of a sensational court trial thereby avoided.

CONTEST WILL OF A RICH CHEMIST

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 15.—A great contest, inaugurated by have-declared invalid the will of the late William Weightman, millionaire chemist, who and forced to leave the box in the second inning. Big Orval Overall took his place, but the game was won and Ossie's herculean efforts counted for nothing.

Doc White, who was batted out of the box in the game of Wednesday, secured ample revenge by holding the terrible swatters safe all the way. The men who led the National league in team hitting were forced to be content with seven hits, while the men who finished last in team batting in the American league amassed twelve safe ones, nearly all of which counted in the scoring.

KRUPP-VON BOHLEN AND HALBACK WEDDING TODAY

World's Richest Young Woman Who Was Civilly Married Saturday, Wedded
In Pomp At Krupp Villa.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Berlin, Oct. 15.—The wedding of Miss Bertha Krupp, eldest daughter of the late Herr Krupp, the great gun-maker and wealthiest man in Germany, and Gustavus von Bohlen-Halback, a young member of the German diplomatic service, took place today at the Krupp villa at Huelgel, a few miles from Essen. The presence of representatives of the imperial family and of numerous other guests of note gave brilliance to the function, which otherwise was characterized by the greatest simplicity and this notwithstanding the fact that the bride is the richest young woman in the world. The wedding took place in a chapel which had been erected in the villa grounds, especially for the occasion. The bride's only attendant was her younger sister, Miss Barbara Krupp, who herself is to be married a few months hence.

The great Krupp works in Essen were closed and the thousands of workmen given a holiday in honor of the wedding. The city council of Essen proclaimed a holiday, and houses and business places were decorated. A deputation of the Krupp employees attended the wedding by special invitation and the First Burgomaster headed a municipal delegation representing the city of Essen.

The bride of today is undoubtedly the richest heiress in the world. By the will of her father, who died Nov. 22, 1902, the works at Essen, Kiel, Madgeburg, Oberhausen, and elsewhere, the total value of which exceeds $50,000,000, were converted into a limited liability company with $3,200,000 capital. The eldest daughter holds 159,990 shares in the company, and her mother and younger sister, Barbara, are otherwise provided for. The last dividend was of $2,400,000, nearly all of which was paid to Bertha as the largest shareholder. The bridegroom, Herr Gustavus von Bohlen-Halback, is 36 years old and was born at The Hague, where his father was minister of the grand duchy of Baden. The family has extensive estates in Baden and also large interests in the United States. After studying law at Heidelberg university, he traveled extensively in America. Returning to Europe in 1897, he was appointed to a post in the foreign office at Berlin. The young diplomat went again to America in 1899, this time as secretary of the German embassy at Washington. His abilities were soon recognized, and in 1900 he accompanied Count Mumm von Schwarzenstein to Pekin as secretary of the legation, and was secretary of the international conference to arrange terms of peace with China. His next appointment was that of first secretary to the Prussian legation to the Holy See, which he has filled since 1903.

LOCAL FOOTBALL
INTEREST GROWS

UNIVERSITY BARELY ESCAPED
TIE WITH LAWRENCE.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS DATES

Will Play Brodhead Here Saturday—
Monroe, to Be Played on Twenty-sixth, is Strong.

With the world's championship series of baseball games completed the attention of the sporting world can now be turned to football. Thus far there has been little interest, partly because of the great excitement over baseball and partly as a result of the new rules interfering with the production of good football teams. Janesville will not watch the University of Wisconsin as closely as she did last year, but nevertheless enthusiasm for the varsity is not entirely dead. The high school men showed improvement in their game at Brodhead Saturday and some good exhibitions by them can be expected.

Injuries Not Prevented

Whether or not the new rules will lessen the number of injuries received in the game is a question that will be decided in a way within a few weeks. Less football will be played this year than last and so fewer injuries will not mean entirely that the changes are accomplishing the end for which they were made. The Cincinnati Morning Star has the following to say along this line:

"The purpose of the rules committee in their labors last winter was to make American football a more open game than it has been—a game in which ability to kick would be at a premium, and in which the light, agile boy, as well as his beefier fellow who has ruled the gridiron for a number of years, would have a place. That the rules committee has been successful in making football a more open game than it has been of late years seems very probable. That it will be any less productive of injuries than it was last year seems less likely."

Football is a game of personal contact, to change it in this case, as a game of personal contact, it will produce some injuries and even fatalities. So do swimming, baseball, polo, hockey and other games which are rarely accused of a tendency toward brutality. There has been a good deal of mauling nonsense on the subject of the brutality of football written and spoken in recent years. If this tone is less, in evidence this fall than formerly it will be rather surprising.

University, 5; Lawrence, 0

The first game of football on the University of Wisconsin schedule this fall, the 5 to 0 victory over Lawrence University Saturday at Camp Randall, showed to Coach Hutchins the necessity of unlimited practice with the new plays allowed and made necessary by the new rules. The play of the badgers was so imperfect

54,600 Meals
Did Him No Good

How One Man Wasted 50 Years of His Life. Thousands Like Him.

"What's the use of eating, anyhow?" said the scrawny dyspeptic to his rosy, prosperous-looking friend. "Here I've been eating three times a day, and sometimes twice a day, for 50 years, and look at me. I'm rawboned and skinny, still at the bottom of the ladder, sour on the world, and a pessimist. I know it, and I can't help it. If I had it to do over again, though, I would take care of my stomach, for I don't believe I ever really relished a meal in my life; not even mother's Christmas dinners, and I firmly believe that my way of eating, or whatever it was, brought along with it darkness and impossibility of success."

"You're right," nodded his companion. "Of course, that isn't always the case. But in this age we must not only trust in the Lord and keep our souls, but we must swallow sunshine with our food. Cheerfulness, especially while eating, which is the most essential act of man, is as necessary to him as sunshine is to the flowers. Nothing normal can be produced in darkness."

"But this is what you haven't been doing, Mr. Dyspeptic. Your brain and your stomach, remember, are twins, and you have to treat them accordingly. Why not start now and repair the damage you've done? It is never too late, you know."

"You mean at my age? And suppose you can't always get the sunshine?"

"Absolutely, yes. Science has made it possible to get the sunshine, the health and the strength that your stomach needs, all put up together, in little tablets. They call them Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the most effective tablets in the world for this very thing. One ingredient in these tablets digests 3,000 grains of food without the help of the stomach. Two tablets after each meal can do more work, quicker work and better work, in digesting a heavy meal, than the stomach can itself. The stomach need not work at all. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets does all the work, and gives your jaded stomach a rest, the rest it needs. Meanwhile you cure yourself of brash, irritation, burning sensation, heartburn, sour stomach, acidity, fermentation, bloating and the worst cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. You get rid of these for all time. And then, besides, you can eat all you want and whenever you want, and you will also relish mother's Christmas dinners if you will take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating. That's the sunshine I was talking about. Then you can feel the natural change going on, you'll be clearer, you will have more confidence in yourself, you'll be happier, and you'll be yourself again."

"Your heart will change and you'll feel rosy. You'll enjoy your meals—and live. Let's walk down to the drug store and let me introduce you to one little package of these Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. You can get them at any drug store in the world for only 50c a package. It is worth it, Mr. Dyspeptic."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists. Write for free literature to: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, 100 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.

and ragged as to be disgusting to the spectators, and when Lawrence came near to crossing the varsity line in the second half there were many university rooters who called out encouragement for the badgers, while others yelled for the badgers to hold. The interference was discontinued. The signals were badly mixed and seemed to be forgotten. Carefully planned, tick plays, forward passes and quarterback kicks, which worked well enough in practice against the weak freshmen, failed utterly in competition of the kind that the little Methodist team from up the state at Appleton was able to present. There were some redeeming features, however. One was that the forward pass as attempted by Clark, halfback, and Frank, end, is a play of much promise. Once Saturday it was worked successfully, but needs no end of practice to make it dependable. Carl Cunningham, who operated the team at quarterback during the greater part of the game, although a novice at football, showed up so well that he seems quite well established in that position, although Springer, who went in toward the end, is a close and aggressive competitor for the position. Soukup, who made Wisconsin's lone touchdown, displayed ability at end running which he was said to possess last year, but was not given a chance by Coach King to prove himself. It was said that the football candidates on an hour earlier in the afternoon, so that the daily practice may be increased and the benefit will be had of good light and not darkness. The first game at Madison showed that practice practice is the great thing needed. The non-sport game of Illinois and Wabash Saturday was gratifying to the badgers, for they think it indicates that the Illinois team is not far ahead of Wisconsin in development. Illinois is the big card this year on the Wisconsin schedule.

Brodhead Here Saturday

Brodhead, high school, will play here Saturday, returning the game of last week. The contest is to take place at Athletic park. The local boys showed good form, judgment and speed at Brodhead and should win again. Both touchdowns were made as the result of good teamwork. For one the ball was carried down the field by regular gains, and the score made by Horky going around the end for three yards. The other was made on a short punt from behind the goal line. The punt team to Woodworth, and the entire team interfering for him allowed an easy score. Coach Hutchins was much encouraged over the prospect.

Salt and Epilepsy.

"Whenever we get a call to attend a case of epilepsy," said an ambulance surgeon at Bellevue, "we always find the patient's neck and face covered with salt. The efficiency of salt as a cure for epilepsy is evidently a relic of some old country superstition, though just what it is we've never been able to find out."—N. Y. Sun.

Siberian Bridal Custom.

In some parts of Siberia a bridegroom, on arriving home, commands his wife to take off his boots. In one is a whip and in the other a purse. The contents of the boot she first selects for removal, presage whether he is to be generous or the reverse to her. A very kind husband will put a purse in each boot, and omit the whip, to make her believe that her choice is auspicious.

AIRSHIPS IN RACE FOR CUP

SAIL FOR TROPHY OFFERED BY GERMAN EMPEROR.

Seventeen Balloons in International Contest, Which Will Go to Cleverest Handler of Ballast.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—In a breeze blowing 15 miles an hour 17 balloons started Sunday in the international race for the cup offered by Emperor William. They were sent up from within an enclosure at Tegel, six miles north-west of Berlin, where admirable arrangements had been made to inflate ten of the balloons simultaneously in an hour and a half.

Fully 100,000 persons assembled to see the race. The starters were officers of the army balloon corps. The balloons themselves were cast off by noncommissioned officers.

The first balloon to start was the Helios, Vienna Aero club. Dr. Schiemel, as it swung away, with steam streaming down on the people, directly underneath the crowd waved hats and handkerchiefs, and cheered. Then at five-minute intervals there followed the Cognac, Borno, Aero club, V. de Beaulieu, the Helmholtz, Berlin Aero society, Dr. Hellas and the Radiant, Belgium Aero club, Adhemar, de la Haut. The other starters were the Ernst, the smallest of the assemblage, 630 metres. Berlin Air Navigation society, Dr. Broekelmann, the City of Brussels, Belgium Aero club, Leon de Brionckers, the Schmeke, Munich Air Navigation club, Dr. Emmer, the Strasburg, Upper Rhine Air Navigation association, Lieut. Lohmueler, the Pommer, Berlin Air Navigation society, Baron von Heward, the Duesseldorf, the largest competitor, 2,400 cubic metres. Lower Rhine Airship club, Lieut. Bonecke, the Coblenz, Middle Rhine Balloon club, Lieut. Zimmermann, the Grand, East, German Balloon society, Capt. Wehler, the Schwaben, Augsburg Air Navigation society, Capt. von Krogh, the Frankfurt, Frankish Airship club, Karl Hochstetler, the Bezdol, and the Sueding, Berlin Air Navigation society, Capt. von Kohler and Lieut. Ribbenroep, respectively, and the Brandenburg, Aeronautic observatory at Lindenburg, Dr. Curt Wegener.

There was only one threatened mishap.

The basket of the Graudenz caught among some telegraph wires, but it was soon freed.

Among the prominent aeronauts present were the delegates of the International Aeronautic society, for whom the race really was given.

The day was beautiful and sunny, but towards evening it commenced to grow quite cold.

The balloons were carried off by a southwesterly wind and probably will land in Silesia or beyond.

The trophy will go to the cleverest handler of ballast.

Vicissitudes of New Propaganda.

Bryan's Commemorative. The simplified spelling authorized by President Roosevelt is not meeting with plain sailing, even in the departments of government at Washington. Controller of the Treasury Tracewell recently ordered some stationery from the public printer. When it came it bore the phonetic spelling, "controller of the currency." Mr. Tracewell refused to stand for it, declaring that his was a constitutional office and there was no such office as "controller of the currency." Assistant Secretary Keap said that he guessed the President's order would have to stand, but Mr. Tracewell called attention to the fact that there was no authority for a "controller" to either receive or pay salaries, and that settled it. It will remain "comptroller" until Oyster Bay is communicated with. Then the secretary of the navy had a complaint. The bureau of navigation received certain printed orders from the big print shop wherein appeared the titles "past assistant paymaster" and "past assistant surgeon." The bureau balked, insisting that "past" meant gone, while the officers referred to were still on duty, having merely "passed" the rank given. The argument waxed furious for a time, and then the matter was referred to Oyster Bay. Then the secretary of the navy had another complaint. The hydrographic office complained that the printers had changed the spelling on the maps, causing great confusion. The secretary then threw up his hands and admitted that he didn't know a thing about spelling. "Refer to Oyster Bay," was the official rebuff.

MURDERED BY A HIGHWAYMAN

Kills Conductor and Slays Watchman Who Tried to Stop Him.

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 15.—Two men were murdered early Sunday morning near the Sixteenth street depot by a highwayman.

Conductor L. M. Samuel and Motorman J. M. Tenny were sitting inside their electric car. Samuel had his night's receipts spread out before him counting the money, when a man with a handkerchief tied over the lower part of his face entered the car carrying a revolver.

Motorman Tenny rushed for the bandit and struck him over the head with his controller. The robber fired, the shot taking effect in Tenny's breast.

Continuing to discharge his revolver, the robber retreated through the door and escaped in the darkness. Two hours later Tenny died from his wounds.

About three o'clock, while searching for the robber, the dead body of William P. Trabody, night watchman for Holbrook, Herrill & Stetson's warehouse, was found outside the warehouse by the police, with a bullet hole over the heart. He had evidently been attracted by the shot that killed the motorman and tried to stop the fleeing highwayman.

SEASON FOR YEGGS

IS AGAIN AT HAND

Men Who Travel as Tramps But Operate as Experts Begin Work of Winter.

With the cool weather comes the annual raids of the yeggman, according to the police, and Chicago, the home of the most dangerous class of criminals, sounds through the medium of the press, a warning for the surrounding districts, especially towns that number few inhabitants and have little or no police protection.

Yeggs may be accepted as a peculiar cross between a common tramp criminal and an expert machinist and a handler of explosives. They operate, for the most part, during the cold months, and with the coming of frost will come announcements of safe blowing in this and that town, followed by the successful escape of the band. They are seldom caught and in a majority of instances get away without arousing the public.

These criminals travel as tramps and operate as experts. When captured by railroads or city police during their travels they usually resort to the role of honest laborers out of work and fast union cards to make good their claims. These cards are for the most part forged, but they generally have the desired effect, the facts in the case being unknown, and the yeggs are always shrewd enough to play his part well.

At times they are captured and are treated as vagrants, given jail sentences, although the authorities content themselves with firing them out of town, and ordering them to remain away. Ordinarily there is nothing about such a character to indicate his calling, although once in a while one is caught with the goods on him as the saying goes.

To the average yeggman, it is nothing short of suicide to attempt to crack a small box during the summer time and besides they are given to free living during the hot spell. In this section Chicago with its levee districts provides innumerable retreats for the various gangs and in addition to having a good time, according to the yegg ideas, they organize the plan, and when they sneak out, prepared to raid the country districts, they are under discipline, with a captain, whose authority is absolute in command of each gang.

FRENCH RACE COURSE RIOT

PUBLIC ENRAGED BY BAD WORK OF STARTER.

Cashiers Driven from Bookmakers' Booths When Demand for Return of Bets Is Refused.

Paris, Oct. 15.—There were violent public demonstrations at the Longchamps race course Sunday afternoon in consequence of an unsatisfactory start in the Free handicap. The trouble culminated in riots, pillage and incendiarism. Many persons were arrested.

The programme comprised six races and the first two passed off without incident.

There were nine starters in the Free handicap, the next event, and four, including the favorite, were left at the post. Amid a terrific uproar a complete outsider won.

The public immediately became enraged, broke down the barriers and invaded the track. Crowds demanded the return of their bets. They surrounded the bookmakers' booths, chased out the cashiers and seized the money. Attempts to restore order were in vain, the small force of police present being inadequate. The crowd's anger increased and non began breaking chairs and throwing them on the track. Then a rougher element raided some automobiles stationed near the grandstands, seized some supplies of petroleum, with which they sprinkled the booths and other woodwork and set them afire.

The squad of firemen on duty were helpless, as the water hose had been cut. The authorities telephoned for assistance to Mont Valerien and a strong body of troops was at once sent up on the double quick. The soldiers succeeded eventually in clearing the enclosure by charging, but in the meantime the betting structures had burned to the ground. A large wooden building, belonging to the bookmakers also was set on fire.

The last three races were postponed. Sixty arrests were made and a large number of policemen and rioters were injured.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, October 15, 1936.—The Approaching Horse Fair.—Completeness of detail and unusually fine weather seem to be conspiring to insure a triumphant success for the great Horse Fair which takes place on the Janesville Driving Park on the 15th, 16th and 17th inst. For the purpose of the fair, the horses from this state and Chicago have signified their intention to be in attendance for the prizes offered. Arrangements have been made to hold the horse show until 10 o'clock each evening during the fair and, possibly, things have been done so far as possible, by the committee in charge, to accommodate the public who desire to attend. Pools for the races each day are to be sold at the Janesville house on the evening preceding the trials of speed.

Attempted Suicide.—On Saturday evening, a young married woman, who was stopping temporarily at the American house in this city, attempted to commit suicide by taking morphine. She went to a drug store and procured eight grains of morphine, and a small bottle of brandy. Upon returning to her room she put the whole together, folded the papers together, and she received them from the hands of the druggist, left a letter to her brother and then deliberately took the whole dose. Her strange conduct had attracted attention during the day, and she was closely watched. One of the girls employed in the house, seeing her drink the contents of a bottle, gave the alarm, when a physician was immediately called. A dose of tartar emetic brought down her forced her to forego the pleasure of dying, and she soon recovered from the effects of the deadly weapon. No cause but temporary insanity is assigned for this attempted self destruction.

GENERAL PROSPERITY

That prosperity is not confined to the north is evidenced by the following from a Dallas News' correspondent.

The consensus of local opinion is that Ellis county will this year produce 150,000 bales of cotton. For each bale of cotton produced there is an accompanying production of half a ton of seed. Cotton is now bringing in the market more than 10c a pound. Assume that the average price of cotton and of cotton seed during the season will be 10c a pound for cotton and $10 a ton for seed. On such assumption the gross local money value of the Ellis county cotton and seed crop will be $2,250,000.

Of this crop, 40,000 bales of cotton and 20,000 tons of seed will be produced in the territory tributary to Janesville, a town of 6,000 people; and the local money value of the Janesville crop of cotton and cotton seed will be $2,200,000.

It is certain that no other county in the state will be able to make such a showing this year. Let the world know, too, that this crop has been produced by white labor. Can any wheat-growing county in Kansas or any corn-producing county in Iowa make such a showing this year or any year? It is well-nigh certain that it can not by several millions of dollars.

The clipping was contained in a letter from Jas. H. Walker to relatives in the city. Mr. Walker is in the shoe business at Ennis, Texas, some twenty miles from Dallas and in the same county. He says that his trade was over $600,000 last Saturday and that he is unable to supply the demand for wide-soled shoes; worth from $5 to $7. Common labor is scarce and commands from $2.50 to $4 a day.

The colored population are liberal buyers and nothing is too good for them when they have money. The Ellis county cotton crop is raised almost entirely by white labor, for the discovery has been made that cotton and the colored brother are not inseparable.

Times are good in every part of the nation. The orange and fruit crop of the south and west sold for $3,000,000 this year and other crops throughout the country are equally prolific. It is a good age to live in and the spirit of happiness and content should be the prevailing spirit.

FOREIGN MERCHANDISE

More than 25 million dollars' worth of foreign merchandise comes into the United States each year to be distributed to other countries.

The Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor publishes its monthly summary each month in a statement entitled "Exports of Foreign Merchandise." An examination of this table shows that between 1899 and 1904 four million dollars' worth of india rubber, produced in a small part of the world, were exported from the United States last year.

2 1/2 million dollars' worth of lead, 1 1/2 million dollars' worth of coffee, about 1 1/2 million dollars' worth of fruits and nuts, over a million dollars' worth of tobacco, more than a million dollars' worth of furs; hides and skins, a little over one million; wool, a little less than a million dollars' worth; art works, nearly one million dollars; foreign woods, especially mahogany, about one million; automobiles, more than half a million; manufactures of iron and steel of various grades and character, over one-half million; furs, over a half million; and cotton, lumber, gum chicle, and sisal, nearly one-half million dollars each.

The countries to which this foreign merchandise is exported from the United States are more widely distributed than would naturally be supposed. While over 10 1/2 million dollars' worth goes to Canada, over 5 million dollars' worth went, in 1905, to the United Kingdom, nearly 2 1/2 millions dollars' worth to Germany, about 1 1/2 million dollars' worth to France, nearly 1 1/2 million dollars' worth to Cuba, nearly a million dollars' worth to Belgium, and over 3/4 of a million dollars' worth to Mexico, and in smaller sums to many other foreign countries.

The total number of countries and colonies to which foreign merchandise is exported from the United States aggregated 65, and the value of the foreign merchandise sent to them from the United States ranged, in 1905, from 10 1/2 million dollars to Canada down to 41 dollars' worth to Korea.

Of the 3 1/4 million dollars' worth of india rubber of foreign production exported in 1905, over 2 1/2 millions went to Canada and nearly 3/4 of a million to the United Kingdom. Of the 2 1/2 million dollars' worth of lead in one of foreign production exported in 1905, nearly 1 million dollars went to the United Kingdom, over 1/2 million to Germany, and $297,461 worth to Japan.

Of the 1 1/2 million dollars' worth of coffee of foreign production exported in 1905, $176,580 worth went to the United Kingdom, $607,031 worth to Cuba, $164,990 worth to Germany, $290,110 worth to Mexico, and nearly $100,000 worth to France.

WHY NOT HAVE THE ROAD?

Every member of the common council has said that in his judgment Janesville ought to have the interurban line to Madison and there is but a handful of citizens who do not express the same opinion. This means that the city and council are practically a unit on the proposition.

The duty and responsibility of granting a franchise, of course, rests with the council, and while there may be differences of opinion as to details it would seem under all the circumstances that the city fathers ought to get together and secure the road.

Mr. Clough outlined what it would be necessary for him to have some time ago, and was assured by the business men, as well as by the council, that his requests would be granted.

On the strength of these promises preliminary work has been done at liberal expense. The franchise which he prepared was along the line of the plan outlined, and it is reasonable to say that both the city and council are under moral obligations to grant it. There has been no change in public sentiment and there is no reason why there should be any change in the original sentiment of the council.

Mr. Clough has said very candidly from the start that in order to secure capital for the enterprise that a liberal franchise would be necessary. It is not an easy thing to interest one million dollars of outside capital in any undertaking, and any community that has it tenderly fortunate.

The city of Watertown has been as dead as a mackerel for years, but just is taking on new life under the stimulus of three interurban roads which are headed that way. The line from Oconomowoc is now building and the city is doing all it can to encourage it.

A Janesville man was in Oshkosh the other day and the business men told him that the interurban roads had done great things for the city. They were surprised that Janesville should offer any opposition.

This is the verdict of every city which has had the experience. The council will serve the best interests of Janesville by meeting Mr. Clough on some proposition that will secure the road.

OUTLOOK FAVORABLE

Mr. Nolan is in receipt of a telegram from Mr. Clough in which he suggests that action on the franchise be deferred for one week. In the meantime he will come here with parties interested in financing the road and go over the matter carefully.

This will be good news to the people of Janesville, for it has been feared that Mr. Clough and his associates had abandoned the enterprise. This does not mean that Mr. Clough will accept the franchise prepared by the council, but it does mean that he will confer with that body along the lines suggested by the majority with a view to adjusting differences which may exist. The road may yet be secured if a spirit of appreciation is displayed.

Hearst is attempting to conduct his campaign in New York under democratic auspices and while he has the endorsement of Tammany he is being deserted generally by old-line democracy throughout the state. Hughes, the republican candidate, is very popular and will command the support of the better element regardless of party.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen is on the rocks and is passing through the same experience of other defunct fraternal organizations. The principle of this kind of insurance is wrong and it is only a matter of time when companies of this class will retire from the field. Something for nothing is not possible in life insurance.

The Chicago schools are in the hands of a freak school board for which Mayor Dunne is largely responsible. It is a socialistic combination and badly tainted with organized labor. None but union-made textbooks are permitted in the schools and the teachers are closely allied with the federation of labor. The coming generation is entitled to better treatment.

The directors of the International Live Stock exposition have received an annual donation of $5,000 from J. Ogden Armour of Chicago. The money is to be used for twenty scholarships in agricultural colleges. The object is a worthy one and the donation very timely.

That $40,000 fee for Lawyer Chynoweth of Madison looks a little bad and Governor Davidson is right in holding up the bill for legislative action. There is a limit to what the state can afford to pay for reform.

The interest taken in the Chicago ball games this week indicates that the national game has lost none of its attractive features.

Senator Spooner is to take the stump for the state and national ticket. How about Senator La Follette?

The late Edward Rosewater, owner of the Omaha Bee, carried life insurance to the amount of $291,000.

Everybody is a good speller nowadays. The reform list covers a multitude of defects.

Song—You Mean War-whoop. Peoria Herald-Transcript: "The taming of the Cubs" is a popular song in Chicago these days.

Autumnal Quiet at an End. Madison Journal: Gov. Davidson opens the campaign at Watertown Tuesday. From now on the guns will boom.

Emotional Twenty-four-year-old. Milwaukee Sentinel: The elopement of Vice-President Fairbank's son indicates that the young man is not a chip of the old iceberg.

Sweeten Up! Sheboygan Journal: Janesville's big sugar refinery is ready for business and any of the city's sour rivals will find it an object to call.

No Wagers Against Hughes. Green Bay Gazette: None of the sporting blood of New York has been aroused in the interest of Hearst. Bets of two to one are offered on Hughes with no takers.

Lige's Empire Melting Away. Chicago News: Dowie's tobacco empire in London has been captured by the salvation army. Soon there will be left of Lige only a bad taste in the mouths of his former followers.

Assorted Brothers-in-law. El Paso Herald: One brother-in-law of Howard Gould is Boni Cellanese and another is a San Francisco Chinaman. That man certainly does have had luck in brothers-in-law.

Gate City to Lose Factory. La Crosse Chronicle: The fact that it is rather difficult to learn what the Rubber Mills company is looking about for is no excuse for letting it go to the village of Hoopston, Ill.

Lawson Predicts Hearst Victory. Eau Claire Leader: Thomas W. Lawson of Pawston, says he is for Hughes of New York, but that, baying a miracle, Hearst will sweep that state. It is this another of Mr. Lawson's idle prophecies?

Muck in Harmless Agitation. El Paso Herald: The Boston symphony orchestra has a new director named Muck, but he is no rake; just a plain, ordinary Dutchman imported to make violent gestures at the man with the bass drum.

Possibly This Explains It. Milwaukee Journal: One thing is certain, should La Follette go on the stump for Connor, Babcock, Boden and the new deal generally, there will not be any response from "fair-minded democrats" when Bob sounds his bugle blast again.

Welcome, Beloiters. Beloit Free Press: It is just possible that some of our city road-makers might catch onto a good point or two by attending the Good Roads meetings at Janesville next Monday. Not that Beloit has many good roads now, but there's always a chance to improve.

Too Much Fun For H. S. Students. Racine Journal: The Madison board of education aims to abolish fraternities in high schools. It is a right step. Study and a proper amount of athletic exercise is enough to take up the student's time. A few less of these orders in college wouldn't do any harm.

A Cuban Stensland. Fond du Lac Commonwealth: With Manuel Silvestre, a Havana banker, roaming the high seas with his booty of something like a million dollars, embezzled from his firm, it is up to some enterprising newspaper to discover at what port he intends to land and be there to meet him for the purpose of an interview and, incidentally, arrest him.

Perfectly Lovely! Clinton Herald: Baseballs and bats are stowed away in some corner for another year and football has taken their place. In former years the style of game followed has made the pasture deadly as a battle. Now that new rules govern the game with some clubs it is to be hoped that without losing any of its really interesting and wholesome features, it may prove much less dangerous.

Scarcity of Labor. Wal Street Journal: "As regards the transcontinental road our progress has been slower than we had expected, on account of the scarcity of labor." Statement by an officer of the St. Paul system. Everywhere the same complaint: the scarcity of labor. This is, perhaps, a more serious condition than even the scarcity of money in the banks as the basis of credit. Both are conditions of overwhelming prosperity. Both, unless relieved in some way, must inevitably result finally in checking the rising tide of prosperity.

Walworth Bar Needs Emetic? Lake Geneva Herald: If one-tenth of the accusations which have been made against one member of the Walworth county bar are true, it is time that body took an emetic and purged itself by taking steps to disbar the alleged attorney. The bar should do so in order to keep itself clean, and also as a matter of protection to the public by prohibiting such a shyster from pursuing his alleged unlawful, if not unprofessional, practices. The bar of Walworth county has always stood high in the estimation of the general public and heretofore the members thereof have been accused of very little crooked work. Does it want to continue to occupy that high position? Or does it want to be looked upon as a sham, a farce, which cares nothing for its standing and reputation in the eyes of the people? The people are thinking and some of them are talking.

Good Roads Convention. Fond du Lac Bulletin: The people of Fond du Lac county should join enthusiastically in the movement for state and county and in making roads. By the proposed plan the state is to pay one-half the cost of road improvement, the county one-half the remainder and the owners and abutting property owners the balance. Under such a system there is no doubt that Wisconsin would enter on a successful era of good road making, and Fond du Lac county should not be behind in the

According to the statements made by Mr. Leopold when he was there, forty-five counties of the state or more will unite in the movement, a number that will insure its success. If Fond du Lac county is not counted in she will have to help pay the state aid that is extended to other counties. To get our share of the benefit accruing from such expenditure we must join the movement.

When the people fully understand what the movement for good roads means they will join it with alacrity. In order to understand it the country should be at the county convention in this city next Wednesday. Come to the meeting and hear the arguments that will be advanced in favor of the movement.

ASSOCIATION IS BEING FORMED

ORGANIZATION PERFECTED BY GOOD ROADS CONVENTION.

COUNTY WELL REPRESENTED

Attendance of Prominent Citizens Large—Committees Appointed by Parker.

At the Rock County Good Roads convention held today an association is being organized that promises to bring to the county one of the greatest if not the greatest improvements in her history. It will work for better roads under the present system of building and repairing and for a change to an improved system. The organization is to be perfected at the close of this afternoon's session. The work is in charge of a committee headed by Assemblyman "Pinky" Norcross, who was appointed by George S. Parker, chairman of the convention. To assist him, Mr. Norcross named Robert Barless of the town of Harmony, John C. Clark of Beloit, The Hon. George H. Crosby of the town of Turtle and C. E. Langworthy of the town of Fulton.

Opening Session of Convention. With more than a hundred prominent citizens of the county present, the convention was opened at ten o'clock this morning in the Circuit Court room of the courthouse, George S. Parker presiding. Rev. R. C. Denison offered a short prayer and the address of welcome was given by United States District Attorney W. G. Wheeler. Mayor J. F. Hutchinson being unable to be present, Mr. Wheeler referred to the city of La Crosse as one of the finest cities in the state in regard to streets and good roads. He also called attention to the benefits resultant, remarking that La Crosse had risen to be the second city in Wisconsin. He further suggested that the work of building and maintaining roads should be the duty of the county, the state and the federal government. He said he was unjust and furnished a source of graft. To this latter part Col. Moore later replied, believing the theory fallacious.

More Words of Welcome. Mr. Norcross extended a welcome in behalf of the county. Mr. Wheeler having represented the city. He pointed out the fact that old Rock is the third wealthiest county in the state and illustrated the fact by reference to the million-dollar tobacco and sugar crops which are but incidental products. He knew this county could surely afford good roads, because it had been for many years supporting bad roads. In example he said the town of Fulton spent eleven hundred dollars each year for the maintenance of her highways and these were in worse condition than forty years ago. Mr. Langworthy of that town corroborated this statement. George S. Parker welcomed those attending the convention, speaking on behalf of the Janesville Advancement Association. He said a five-hundred-mile automobile trip recently had been made where the roads were good, the farmhouses, barns and other buildings were better and a general appearance of thrift was noticeable, while everything was in poor condition where the roads were poor.

Col. W. H. Moore Speaks. Colonel W. H. Moore, President of the National Good Roads Association, delivered the principal address this morning, speaking on the work of the organization which he headed. In opening he deplored the absence of women at the convention and asked those present to bring their wives with them this afternoon and evening. In part he said: The National Good Roads Association grew from the Missouri State Good Roads Association, the greater society being launched in 1887. They then took up the work they are now carrying along and their first demonstrations were at the World's fair in Chicago, where their roads were inspected by representatives of every state and nearly every nation. A similar demonstration was given at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo.

The New Jersey System. Both groups have inserted in their platform planks favoring governmental aid in the building and improvement of roads. The theoretical system thus upheld places the expense equally on the national and state governments. This is an impracticable idea, because the United States can neither afford to bear fifty per cent of the expense nor does one part of the union wish to pay for improvements in another. The state of New Jersey has the best roads in the country and her system seems to be the best. She has been spending $250,000 annually for the past fifteen years and now has eleven hundred miles of the finest roads. The cost of these is borne thus: one-third by the state, one-third by the county in which the roads are built and one-third by the property abutting on the said roads. The supreme court of that state held that system constitutional, despite the objections of the state road officials.

Move Must Be Local. You of Rock county can not wait until a change is made in the Wisconsin constitution so that such a system can be put in operation, here. You must start work as a county and state aid will follow. At present you place the cost of road maintenance largely upon the farmer. This is unjust for everybody profits by good roads, even the railroads. I suggest that you is the burden under the direct tax system. Do not object to these bonds because the bond system you get most of your valuable utilities, including water works and lighting plants. Under the present plan your roads are fizzes and failures though you spend from forty to forty-two thousand dollars each year. This amount properly expended should build fifteen or twenty miles of good roads. You have a right to demand that such expenditures bring better results than they have in the past.

Organization as Model. In closing Mr. Moore asked the organizers of the county association to be careful for he said this was to be a model after which other county societies in the state are to be patterned.

ed and the resolutions adopted by this convention are to be copied by various other conventions. Mr. Parker named A. A. Jackson for the committee on resolutions and he selected as members Simon, Smith, of Beloit, Perry, Wilder of Evansville, P. W. Coon of Edgerton, S. S. Jones of Clinton, S. C. Carr of Milton and G. D. Hall of Oshkosh. Fred J. Clemons was appointed to take charge of registration of the convention and enrollment of members of the association. No membership fees are charged and to each member are sent all pamphlets issued by the National Association.

Afternoon Session. Mr. Loucks gave his interesting chart talk this afternoon and Col. Moore, seated with the audience, piled him with questions on subjects vital to the farmers and suggested by such of their conversation as he could overhear. The speaker discussed the best ways of using material already available for road building, the crawling of highways, the laying of tile, and drains and their proper pitch. He recommended that good county purchase a roller weighing from 15 to 20 tons and also secure a crusher which might be operated by the roller engine. The cost of operation would not exceed from $8 to $10 a day. The attendance was larger this afternoon, many of those present coming from points 18 or 20 miles distant and it was a thoroughly representative and appreciative body of listeners that greeted the speakers. Col. Moore was extremely well pleased. Tonight the meeting will be held at the Congregational church. Admission will be free. Tickets can be procured at the church door.

WANTS CITY TO DEFER ACTION

H. H. CLOUGH AND CAPITALISTS COMING FOR CONFERENCE.

ON INTERURBAN FRANCHISE

Will Go Over Disputed Points Next Monday Night—Matters to Come Up This Evening.

Attorney T. S. Nolan has received from H. H. Clough a telegram asking him to request the city council at its regular meeting this evening to defer action on the Janesville & Madison Interurban franchise matter one week in order that he may come here in company with the parties interested in financing the proposed road with the possible attainment of a mutual understanding satisfactory to all concerned as the object in view. The council will undoubtedly extend this courtesy and it is therefore a foregone conclusion that the franchise question will not be taken up tonight. This reassuring message is the first intimation from the promoters that the project has not been entirely abandoned and it is good news to everybody. Other matters to come up for consideration this evening are the protests of owners of property on Park and St. Lawrence places against the action of the City Fathers in changing the names of those fractional highways and the financial settlement with P. H. Ryan for the filling of the big gully which the washout on Washington street created.

NOTICE.

An invitation is cordially extended to the business and professional men and their wives, clerks, cashiers, bookkeepers and the members of other lodges, also those holding former invitations, to come and dance with the Ben Hur Thursday evening, Oct. 18th. Dancing from 8:00 to 12:00.

Brilliant Career of F. Augustus Heinze, Who Brought the Standard Oil to Its Knees

Game and Determined Young Mining Engineer, Who Is Said to Be America's Greatest Smelter Expert—Good Fellow, With His Nerve Always on Top—Incidents of His Great Fight in Montana's Courts

THE world of copper has produced more than dollars. It was the cause of Tom Lawson's strictures on "frenzied finance," it controlled the politics of a state and made deals in national politics, it pushed William A. Clark into the United States senate and it brought forth F. Augustus Heinze.

Most copper kings, as well as the monarchs of metal in other lines, make their first strike by accident. Heinze did not. He figured it out. He calculated the dip of the veins that were being worked in other mines, bought some intervening claims, dug down to the veins he had located by cold calculation and followed them not only through his own property, but according to the statement of his antagonists, under the surface "struck out" by others. Thereupon followed a series of lawsuits that shook the state of Montana and caused something of a flurry in the financial world at large.

Brought Standard Oil to Its Knees.

It was in these litigations that Heinze brought the richest corporation on earth to its knees. Everybody knows, thanks to Thomas V. Lawson, that Amalgamated Copper means Standard Oil. Well, it was the Amalgamated that Heinze, then a young mining engineer, with but a small capital, fought through the courts of Montana till Henry H. Rogers cried for quarter.

It is related that after the overgrown Standard had been smitten by Heinze until it was aware that he was on Rogers, and Mr. Heinze, the young "Napoleon of finance," is entitled to a brass crown for this victory. Another prominent characteristic of F. Augustus was brought out in the Montana litigations, and that was the quality of never-give-up-itiveness. It was also exemplified in his earlier youth.

An Instance of His Persistence.

Heinze's front name is Frederick, called by his German father "Fritz." In an evil moment one of Fritz's playmates kicked the future champion of the copper ring, and Frederick Augustus gave chase.

The average boy would have kept running for a block perhaps, after which he would have abandoned the race as fruitless, but the future vanquisher of the Standard pursued for one block, then for two, then for ten, then for a mile, and still kept running until the other boy dropped exhausted and Fritz eyed up the score by landing a resounding kick on his prostrate antagonist. A kid with that much persistence is bound to land somewhere, and that "somewhere" will generally be at a point in the race of life far in advance of that at which others have given up. If a chap never loses his nerve and never quits the game there is surely something coming his way in the finish. Heinze won out because little jolts and jars couldn't loosen his grip. In manhood as in youth he kept up the chase, until he caught his antagonist and "got even."

where he took an exhaustive course in metallurgy and mining engineering. When he was thoroughly prepared, he came back and won the world of copper. At one time he says that there was money in smelting, so he bought some old smelting machinery, took it up to the mines of British Columbia, built a railroad a few miles long and soon had things his own way. Of course the Canadian railroads and smelters fought him, but he had the advantage of location and forced his adversaries to buy him out at a big profit to himself.

With the money thus gained he went back to Montana and began his campaign which resulted in changing the politics of the state and forcing the "frenzied" Amalgamated to come to terms.

Comes of a Famous Race.

In personal appearance Mr. Heinze is under the average height and looks like a boy. Every line of his face, however, the curves of nose, mouth and chin, all indicate good old Teutonic pugacity and determination. Heinze comes of the race that produced a Bismarck.

Just what the future has in store for the young "Copper Croesus"—the alliterative name by which all who make money in copper are called—is a pure matter of speculation. Some say that he will succeed W. A. Clark in the senate. Others say—but what do they not say? One thing is fairly certain—that he will continue making money and doing spectacular things. A man at thirty-seven has only started in the game of life. Heinze may even live to be as old as Russell Sage and grow as penurious. He may lose all his hair, like Rockefeller, though it is safe to say that he will never put up the pious front that John D. assumes when going out on a practical expedition. Heinze is too much of a good-fighter and good-fellow to slum in a Sunday school.

He has written at least one story in his life, and it was not a bad one at that. He is hardly likely, however, to bull the literary market like Lawson, or to write optimistic books of statistics and prospecting prophecies like Carnegie. He likes to make money too well to spend his time in merely writing about making it.

For one thing, Mr. Heinze is said to be the greatest smelter expert in America, and that is no small accomplishment in itself. He is not the sort of man to give up being a first class smelter expert to become a third rater in the book and magazine field. Happy is that man who knows what he can do.

Here is a little story of Heinze's boyhood that made me think more of him. After he was sent to school in Germany, he wrote to his mother in Brooklyn begging her to remember a small friend of his across the street whose parents were dead. "Please be good to Charlie," ran the letter, "because he has no friend but me." He then inclosed a dollar to buy a Christmas present for Charlie.

As a general thing, I do not particularly fancy high-finance, but I do like people with hearts in them, whatever their outward circumstances. Evidently the heart of the boy Heinze was large and sound. During his long fight against the Standard Oil trust it is stated that Heinze while standing by the open grave of his mother had a subpoena served on him by pious John's company.

If one wishes examples of the two extremes of generosity and meanness let him take the little boy sending his dollar to his orphan friend 3,000 miles away and the overgrown corporation bounding a man at his mother's grave. The more we see of trusts the more we love horse thieves by contrast.

Worked Hand in Hand.

In the many scores of cases brought against the Amalgamated Mr. Heinze was assisted by his brother Arthur, a lawyer. The two worked hand in hand, and the persistence of the one was supplemented by the legal acumen of the other. Case after case was won not only against the Amalgamated, but against Senator Clark and others. There has seldom been a struggle in the financial world more replete with sensations and scandals.

At one time Heinze won the famous Minnie Healy prize, worth at least $100,000. This was the blow that almost killed Rogers. When he heard of that decision all of the Amalgamated mines in Montana were ordered shut down, throwing thousands of men out of work and causing untold misery and hardship.

The Standard could no longer strike at Heinze, who had whipped it in the state courts. So in belated rage the great trust struck at Montana. It was shortly after that showdown that Heinze and the Amalgamated pooled their forces and ended the long war. It is safe to say that F. Augustus got more out of that final sale than the $30,000,000 he had originally asked of Rogers, whether that price of money, nearly had nervous prostration because of the magnitude of the demand. Heinze concluded at that time that he was young enough to wait. So he went back to fighting and let Rogers think it over. The courts helped the Standard to come to a conclusion.

It has been less than a score of years since young Heinze went back from Columbia to the copper country, and gained the contentment of "the dude" because he was wearing clothes in the evening and a rock coat and silk tie on Sunday. By sheer will force and intellect he compelled recognition. He had a theory that if a man only possesses sufficient courage, ability and persistence he can, light day, sort of combination and win in the language of the street, "made good."

earth Rogers one day, sent for F. Augustus and asked him what he would take to quit.

Heinze, like Bret Harte's "beaten Chinese," was childlike and bland.

"Why, Mr. Rogers," he said, "I did not come here to make a proposition. You sent for me, you know. I am here to listen to what you have to say."

This gave Rogers a turn. The idea of any human being, much less a youthful human being, daring to talk to him in this way! But, overlooking the Heinze nerve, Rogers continued sweetly:

"We will give you a half million to settle all your claims—give it to you in cash today."

Did Not Know His Man.

The second main squeeze of the Standard Oil probably thought that so much money—and all in cash at that—would overwhelm any young mining engineer on earth, but he did not know Heinze.

"Mr. Rogers," said that impudent youth, "I am surprised. I had thought you were a man of broad views, accustomed to great negotiations."

"In heaven's name, how much do you want?" sputtered Rogers.

"Ten million dollars," quietly responded Heinze.

Everybody else, whoever told that story says that F. Augustus made the last reply "without the quiver of an eyelash."

Do not you think you had better try to wear a smile and sing a song? It's a good old world after all. Provided you take Rocky Mountain Tea. In the spring and fall.

"POISON SQUAD" IS EATING SALT PETER

New Stunt for Chemists of Bureau of Chemistry at Washington.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., Oct. 15.—When the "poison squad" of the Bureau of Chemistry reassembled Monday with lesser experiments on entirely new lines. Dr. Wiley, chief of the bureau, is anxious to discover whether salt peter, a preservative commonly used in meats, and heretofore regarded as harmless, is deleterious in its effects. In order to get the information in the best possible way he will set his poison squad to work, and by noting the general effect upon their health of a diet of corned beef, ham, etc., prepared with generous quantities of salt peter he hopes to be able to tell the world in a short time just what salt peter will do to the human system. The test to be made with salt peter deals with practically the only chemical preservative on coloring matter not prohibited now by the regulations.

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing This Fatal Disease.

Mrs. J. W. Lang and Mrs. S. Frake

Of all the diseases known, with which women are afflicted, chronic kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Lydia E. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to counteract that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one, especially prepared for women, and thousands have been cured of serious kidney derangements by it. Derangements of the feminine organs quickly affect the kidneys, and when a woman has such symptoms as pain or weight in the loins, backache, bearing-down pains, scalding or burning sensations or deposits in the urine, unusual thirst, swelling of hands and feet, swelling under the eyes or sharp pains in the back, running through the groin, she may infer that her kidneys are affected and should lose no time in combating and curing them with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the woman's ready for woman's ills.

The following letters show how marvelously successful it is. Mrs. Samuel Frake, of Prospect Plains, N. J., writes: "I cannot thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: A Woman's Remedy for Woman's ills.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I first wrote to you I had suffered for years with what the doctor called kidney disease and congestion of the female organs. My back ached dreadfully all the time, and I suffered so with that bearing-down feeling I could hardly walk across the room. I did not get any better so decided to stop doctoring with my physician and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am thankful to say it has entirely cured me. I do all my own work, have no more backache and all the bad symptoms have disappeared. I cannot praise your medicine enough, and would advise all women suffering with kidney trouble to try it.

Mrs. J. W. Lang, of 628 Third Avenue, New York, writes:

I have been a great sufferer with kidney trouble. My back ached all the time and I was discouraged. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure kidney disease, and I began to take it; it has cured me when everything else had failed. I have recommended it to all of my people and they all praise it very highly.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from kidney trouble, or any form of female weakness, are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years, since her advice has been freely given to sick women. Out of the great volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than likely she has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

With Edged Tools

By HENRY SETON MERRIMAN
Author of "The Sowers," "Roden's Corner," "From One Generation to Another," Etc.

Copyright, 1894, by HARPER & BROTHERS.

"I don't think so," said Jack Meredith, "I never thought of that. He got it up at the plateau. He left it behind him. They have got it up there now."

"Not now?"

"What do you mean, Oscar?"

"Merely that all those fellows up there are dead. There is 200,000 worth of simlacine packed ready for carrying to the coast standing in a pile on the plateau, and there are thirty-four dead men keeping watch over it."

"Is it as infectious as that?"

"When it first shows itself infectious is not the word; it is nothing but a plague. Not one of those fellows can have escaped."

Jack Meredith sat forward and rubbed his two hands pensively over his knees.

"So," he said, "only you and I and Joseph know where the simlacine plateau is."

"That is so," answered Oscar.

"And Joseph won't go back?"

"Not if you were to give him that 200,000 worth of stuff."

"And you will not go back?"

"Not for 200,000. There is a curse on that place."

"I believe there is," said Meredith.

And such was the end of the great simlacine scheme—the wonder of a few seasons. Some day, when the great Sahara is turned into an inland sea, when steamers shall ply where sand now flows before the desert wind, the plateau may be found again. Some day, when Africa is cut from east to west by a railway line, some adventurous soul will scale the height of one of many mountains, one that seems no different from the rest and yet is held in awe by the phantom haunted dens of the gloomy forest, and there he will find a pyramid of wooden cases surrounded by bleached and scattered bones where vultures have fed.

In the meantime the precious drug will grow scarcer day by day, and the human race will be poorer by the loss of one of those half-matured discoveries, which have more than once in the world's history been on the point of raising the animal called man to a higher, stronger, more developed, and more intelligent state of being. Who can tell? Perhaps the strange, solitary bush may be found growing elsewhere—in some other continent across the ocean. The ways of nature are past comprehension, and no man can say who sows the seed that crops up in strange places. The wind blows where it listeth, and none can tell what germs it bears. It seems hardly credible that the plateau, no bigger than a cricket field, far away in the waste land of central Africa, can be the only spot on this planet where the magic leaf grows in sufficient profusion to supply suffering humanity with an alleviating drug, unrivaled—a strength-giving herb unapproached in power. But as yet no other simlacine has been found, and the plateau is lost.

And the end of it was two men who had gone to look for it two years before—youth and hearty—returning from the search successful, beyond their highest hopes, with a shadow in their eyes and gray upon their heads.

They sat for nearly two hours in that room in the quiet house in Russell square, where the cabs do not pass, and their conversation was of money. They sat until they had closed the simlacine account, never to be reopened. They discussed the question of renunciation and after due consideration concluded that the risk had all been theirs. Slaves and slave owners had both taken their cause to a higher court, where the defendant has no worry and the plaintiff is at rest. They were beyond the reach of money—beyond the glitter of gold—far from the cry of anguish. A fortune was set aside for Marie Duruovo, to be held in trust for the children of the man who had found the simlacine plateau; another was apportioned to Joseph.

"Seventy-seven thousand one hundred and four pounds for you," said Jack Meredith at length, laying aside his pen; "seventy-seven thousand one hundred and four pounds for me. And," he added, after a little pause, "it was not worth it."

Guy Oscar smoked his pipe and shook his head.

"Now," said Jack Meredith, "I must go. I must be out of London tomorrow morning. I shall go abroad—America or somewhere."

He rose as he spoke, and Oscar made no attempt to restrain him.

They went out into the passage together. Oscar opened the door and followed his companion to the step.

"I suppose," said Meredith, "we

"John, you know something about this?"

upon which to fix her attention. It was a characteristic movement which he knew, although he had only seen it once or twice before. It indicated that if there was an end to Lady Cantourne's wit she had almost reached that undesirable bourn.

"He has broken off his engagement," she said, looking her companion very straight in the face, "now—at the eleventh hour."

"Do you know anything about it?"

She came closer to him, looking up from her compact, little five-foot-two with discerning eyes.

"John!" she exclaimed.

She came still nearer and laid her gloved hands upon his sleeve.

"John, you know something about this?"

"I should like to know more," he said gravely. "I am afraid—Millicent will be inconvenienced."

Lady Cantourne looked keenly at him for a moment. Physically she almost stood on tiptoe, mentally she did it without disguise. Then she turned away and sat on at chair which had always been set apart for her.

"It is a question," she said gravely, "whether any woman has a right to punish a woman so severely."

The corner of Sir John's mouth twitched.

"I would rather punish her than have Jack punished for the rest of his life."

"Ah!" with a gesture learned in some foreign court, "I can only ask your forgiveness. I can only remind you that she is not your daughter—if she were she would be a different woman—while he is my son."

"Lady Cantourne, indeed as if to indicate that he need explain no more."

"How did you do it?" she asked quietly.

"I did not do it. I merely suggested to Guy Oscar that he should call on you, Millicent and her husband, when we arrived. Thinking that I might be too trip, I withdrew and left the young people to settle it among themselves, which they have apparently done. I am like yourself, a great advocate for allowing young people to settle things among themselves. They are also welcome to their enjoyment of the consequences so far as I am concerned."

"But Millicent was never engaged to Guy Oscar?"

"Did she tell you so?" asked Sir John, with a queer smile.

"Yes."

"And you believed her?"

"Of course—and you?"

RUSSIAN REBELS SMUGGLE RIFLES

REGULAR SOLDIERS AID WHEN GIVEN MONEY.

EASY TO BRIBE GUARDS

Sentinel Give Up Guns for Small Fees When Contraband Is Being Taken into Country by Its Enemies.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Oct. 15.—A consignment of several thousand revolvers, purchased by the Russian government in Berlin recently fell into the hands of the Polish revolutionists.

Shortly after the arrival of the car containing the pistols at the Warsaw freight yards an artillery officer and a squad of soldiers appeared, presented bills of lading and an authorization to receive the weapons, which were loaded upon a wagon and carried away.

It later developed that the soldiers were disguised revolutionists and the documents forged.

Arms for Revolutionists.

Investigation shows that since last December the revolutionists have been accumulating large stocks of rifles and revolvers in Poland, the greater part of these according to a member of the party, being purchased in Berlin, where their agents, well supplied with money from the proceeds of recent robberies and forced contributions, are able to pay cash for weapons of the latest pattern.

The consignments, it is said, have several times been shipped, by railroad in bond, to Warsaw, the buyers arranging by bribing railroad employees, to have the car elidetracked at some convenient place on the Russian side of the frontier where it is opened and the contents carried away. They are also smuggled in large numbers over the regular overland routes for revolutionary literature, most of these leading from Cracow, in Austrian Poland, where the Poles have greater liberty than in German Poland.

Soldiers Accept Bribes.

Although the frontier is closely guarded smuggling offers little difficulty, owing to connivance of the soldiers and professional smugglers.

As a rule, the smugglers work in groups of three or four. Arriving at the frontier one of the party approaches the guard, makes terms with him, the regular price for a free passage being about five dollars, paying half in advance and taking possession of the soldier's rifle until the other members have crossed the frontier. In spite of the efforts of the police, few of the revolutionary arsenals have yet been discovered.

MURDERED FAMILY DUMPED INTO RIVER

SLAYER WAYLAIPT PARTY AFTER BUYING FARM.

MET VICTIMS AT WOODS

Deliberately Fires Both Barrels of Shotgun into Body of Man, Then Clubs Woman and Three Children to Death.

Houston, Mo., Oct. 15.—Barney Parsons, a farmer, his wife and three children were murdered Friday near Licklin, Mo.

A farmer near Hamilton has been arrested charged with the murder, and is said to have confessed.

Parsons had sold his farm and crops to Hamilton, and it is alleged that the men quarreled over the terms of the sale.

Parsons and family set out from their former home in a covered wagon, bound for northern Missouri.

Whole Family Killed.

The body of Parsons was found shot to death, and the mother and three children had been clubbed to death. Joda Hamilton, the alleged murderer, is in the Houston jail strongly guarded to prevent lynching. He is said to have made a complete confession, of which the following is a summary.

Outline of Confession.

"At a timber bordered place in the road, as Parsons and his family were driving along, they were confronted by Hamilton, armed with a shotgun. Deliberately aiming at Parsons, Hamilton discharged both barrels of the gun, and Parsons fell to the ground. Hamilton then advanced upon him and clubbed him over the head with the butt of the gun several times. He then beat the head of the mother almost to a pulp, and after killing her clubbed the three children to death.

Dumps Bodies into Creek.

The bodies of all five were then loaded into a wagon and taken to Big Piney creek, about one mile distant from the scene of the murder, and dumped into the creek.

The body of one of the children has not yet been found.

A party of fishermen from Houston discovered the bodies of two of the children Saturday about noon. A further search brought to light the bodies of both parents, and word was sent to Houston.

Rides Stolen Mule.

Shortly after noon, the news had been received there, Hamilton rode into town on a mule that was recognized as one that belonged to Parsons. He was arrested and locked up in jail. Parsons, who came to Texas county two years ago, from the northern part of Missouri, was a quiet, industrious farmer, and never had trouble of any sort. Hamilton has also been favorably known over the entire county.

Result of Next Campaign Theme for the Cardinals.

Rome, Oct. 15.—In spite of the fact that the pope is enjoying perfect health, the matter of the possible result of the next conclave, whenever it does occur, is being discussed even among the cardinals themselves and this with no desire to anticipate the end or to be disrespectful to the pontiff.

The feeling among the cardinals has changed greatly since August, 1903, and to-day there exists a tendency quite opposite to that which triumphed three years ago. In view of the Vatican's experiences with France, the cry this time will not be for a merely religious pope, but a political pope; not for a saint, but for a statesman.

Even the strongest opponents of three years ago of Cardinal Rampolla now favor his election. Rampolla failed in 1903 chiefly because he was vetoed by Cardinal Puzyna in the name of Austria, speaking for the entire triple alliance.

Although Pope Pius has suppressed the right of veto arrogated by certain powers, the reasons which induced the triple alliance to oppose Cardinal Rampolla still exist, and the church is to-day less able to afford displeasing the central empire. Consequently there are rumors of an experiment with a foreign pope, in spite of the disfavor of the Italians. For the last four centuries all the popes have been Italian.

In this connection the recent election of Father Wernz to be general of the Jesuits is considered symptomatic. Everyone prophesied that the new general would be an Italian, but finally a German was chosen.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

The forests and fields are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, not alone to beautify the land, but to furnish the ingredients for making a remedy for every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from the roots herbs and barks, which nature has placed at the disposal of man, act better in every way than do strong mineral mixtures and concoctions—the products of the chemist's shop. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health. S. S. S. enjoys the distinction of being the only purely vegetable remedy on the market. It is made entirely of gentile-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up and invigorate all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison and all disorders of the blood by cleansing the circulation of the cause, and it cures safely as well as permanently. It is as safe for children and old people as for those in the prime of life, and is the one blood medicine that may be used without fear of bad after-effects. MAGOON EXPECTS PEACE TO PREVAIL

LOOKS FORWARD TO QUIET TIME ON THE ISLAND.

CUBA TO PAY EXPENSES

Cost of American Army of Occupation to Be Settled Out of Receipts of Treasury, Strict Accounting to Be Made.

Havana, Oct. 15.—Charles E. Magoon's first day as governor of Cuba passed busily but quietly. The palace was singularly still, compared with the eventful days of the past regime.

Gov. Magoon said he was looking forward with confidence to a peaceful administration. He expressed the warmest appreciation of the work accomplished by Messrs. Taft and Bacon, both in the pacification of the island and laying the foundation for a smooth and successful system of provisional government.

The governor sees no reason to anticipate further sudden changes in the situation or any especially sensational incident; he is rather of the opinion that now governmental matters will be of the commonplace order compared to the exciting and rapid succession of developments of the past two months.

Careful as to Cabinet.

Gov. Magoon has announced his decision to postpone the appointment of cabinet officers indefinitely. His intention is to consider thoroughly the conditions and needs of each department, and this can be better accomplished at the outset by having the subordinate heads report direct to him.

By this method the governor believes he will be better enabled to select the ministers best fitted for the respective posts.

Asked whether he was likely to permit partisan political expediency to influence cabinet or other appointments, the governor replied that such considerations might rule to some extent, since it certainly would be impolitic to appoint to high office men to whom a considerable portion of the people was opposed. Efficiency and suitability, however, would be the main considerations.

There will be kept a strict accounting of the expenses incurred by the American army of occupation as are chargeable to Cuba. These will include only such expenses as would not have incurred but for the coming of the troops to the island.

Welcome to Former Rebel.

The last demonstration of welcome to returning ex-rebels took place here Sunday upon the arrival of Gen. Julian Betancourt, who was formerly Pino Guerra's chief of staff.

Betancourt has been detained in Pinar del Rio collecting insurgent arms and settling other matters. He is popular in the capital. A crowd of 2,000 persons met him at the Villa Nueva station and greeted him with shouts of delight. Padre Miret, a revolutionary priest, who accompanied the general, also was enthusiastically welcomed. The crowd was composed almost entirely of negroes. With three bands of music they paraded through several squares, around central park and down the Prado, and finally left Betancourt at his home.

Movements of Troops.

The City of Washington, with the headquarters and first battalion of the Eleventh infantry on board, and the Admiral Schley, with Company I, of the signal corps, and the Seventeenth and Eighteenth batteries of mountain artillery, have arrived here. The troops have gone to Camp Columbia. The headquarters and third battalion of the Fifth infantry have been transferred from Camp Columbia to Cardenas.

Gen. J. Franklin Bell intends to distribute a battalion of engineers throughout the island for the purpose of verifying, correcting and completing the large army map of Cuba begun during the former intervention, but not completed except for the provinces of Havana and Matanzas.

The 25th marines ordered to the Isle of Pines by Secretary of War Taft proceeded thither Sunday from Batobano on board a coasting vessel.

Wrestler Challenges World at Age of 72

A. W. Lane, Doughty Old Barre (Vt.) Mat Star, Hasn't Retired Yet.

Some fifteen years ago A. W. Lane of Barre, Vt., better known as Alf, issued a challenge to wrestle any man of his age and weight at any kind of a "bolt," and the offer has never been accepted or withdrawn. Mr. Lane is seventy-two years old. Works every day, looks to be about fifty, is lively and "withy" and has made a wide reputation as a wrestler for fifty years. He first came to public attention as a wrestler when only a boy, and perhaps no incident in his career has pleased him more than that fact. He and a brother had accompanied their father, who was a representative from his town, to Montpelier on the opening day of the session of the legislature. As was customary in those days, there were frequent athletic contests in the statehouse yard, some of the contestants coming many miles to display their skill or to meet a well known competitor. Among these was a man from Tunbridge who had met all comers all day and had held his own. The Lane boys then had some reputation as wrestlers, and Alf was urged in the afternoon to enter the ring. He did so and easily vanquished the champion. As the man had been a good deal of a braggart, the crowd was enthusiastic in its applause. Alf only remarked that the man was an easy victim, and when the vanquished champion demanded another bout he sent his brother into the ring, who also came out successful. From that time the fame of Alf Lane as a wrestler was established and has never been dimmed. He has wrestled with all sorts of men, has refereed matches and trained men for them, but has never been a professional. He is a pure amateur and in the best sense, for he wrestles just for the enjoyment of it. The story of his life, the matches he has participated in, most of them impromptu, the men he has vanquished, would make an interesting story, but, as he says, it would take too long to tell. No one has seriously challenged him in recent years, and no one has taken up his offer to meet any man in the world of his age and weight. He even suggests that he would be willing to waive one of the conditions, either age or weight, if any one really wants to wrestle with a man of seventy-two years.

Veteran Rowing Coach Finally Persuaded to Change His Mind.

reached at a meeting attended by Coach Courtney, Graduate Manager Senior, President Irvine of the athletic council and several resident members of the board of trustees.

Two months ago Courtney declared without reservation that he would resign until John L. Senior was removed from the management of the crews. Whether he has carried his point it is impossible to learn.

All who had a hand in the settlement of the difficulties have bound themselves to secrecy regarding the details to avoid a public humiliation of either Mr. Courtney or Mr. Senior, as both declared themselves rather forcibly when the differences were first aired.

WILL CITIZENS HELP BUILD A HOSPITAL?

Dr. George H. Fox in a Communication Urges Active Co-operation With Sisters of Mercy.

Are we to have a city hospital? Yes, we can have one if we desire it enough to give less than one-third of the actual cost when completed. We all feel the great need of such an institution. Our city is large enough and wealthy enough. It should have one sufficient to provide fifty beds. Ultimately such a building, I am told, when completed, will cost about fifty thousand dollars. Was talking with the Sisters, who are desirous of putting up such a building and taking entire charge of it. Although they are Roman Catholics, the institution will be run entirely independent of any sectarianism. Most of us are acquainted with similar hospitals and know how very efficient and thorough they are in such management. Dr. Palmer has made them an offer of the Palmer Memorial Hospital at a very reasonable sum, and really gives them the operating room which is complete in every way. It could not be replaced for $2,000. They are now ready to accept his offer and will commence to build the entire structure from the ground up, that is, the walls, finishing the inside as occasion may demand. The present building will continue to be used for the few it will accommodate till the other is ready when it will be used for Sisters' home. Now it is for the interest of every citizen of our city to see that such an opportunity is not treated lightly either by indifference or lack of a reasonable financial aid. Many persons go to Chicago or Milwaukee every year for treatment from this city and surrounding country that could be cared for here quite as well were there a place to receive them. If we have not a charter with provision for caring for the injured or ailing poor, the matter should be seen to forthwith. Let the people call a meeting and decide what they will do—not talk about it, but do it. Let us leave it to the citizens to build such an institution and most decidedly the best way. We do not have to deal with our unworthy city fathers or the railroad company. Can have a fine and useful building in a few months if we only do the right thing. We need it. Let us get it now.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. GEO. W. PECK

Wife of the ex-Governor Passed Away at Winetka Health Resort Near Chicago Sunday Morning.

Mrs. Frances Peck, wife of ex-Gov. George W. Peck, died suddenly at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the Winetka health resort, north of Chicago. Death was due to heart failure.

Gov. Peck was the only member of the family at the bedside. The two sons were immediately notified, and one of them, Roy Walter Peck, Chicago, went at once to Winetka. George W. Peck, Jr., the other son, who moved to Philadelphia recently, left that city last night with his wife for Milwaukee.

Mrs. Peck was the daughter of John Rowley, born in Newark, N. Y., sixty years ago, she came west with her parents when a year old. Her father, a farmer, settled at Rock Prairie, Wis., near Delavan. When Mr. Rowley sold the farm and entered business in Delavan, the family moved to that city, where Mrs. Peck received her elementary education.

While at Delavan Mrs. Peck became acquainted with the ex-governor, then a clerk in an hotel at Janesville. They were married in Delavan before either of them had attained their majority. Three sons were born to them, one of whom died. Soon after their marriage Mr. Peck purchased an interest in the Jefferson County Republican, and when he sold out in 1893 they moved to Madison. When the ex-governor enlisted in the civil war Mrs. Peck lived with her parents at Delavan, and upon his return the family moved to Ripon. While at Ripon the literary work of Mr. Peck attracted the attention of "Brick" Pomeroy, New York, and the family lived in that city for nearly three years, while Mr. Peck was a member of Pomeroy's staff. When Pomeroy purchased the Democrat at La Crosse the family came westward again and settled in that city.

Although arrangements for the funeral had not been made last night, it may take place on Tuesday, with services at First Baptist church, Milwaukee.

Mrs. A. O. Vincent.

Mrs. A. O. Vincent, who with her husband conducted a hotel at Lake Koshkonong, succumbed to paralysis in Chicago Saturday. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. William Jones of Chicago. The funeral services were held at Milton Junction today.

William Millington.

The funeral of the late William Millington will be held at the Cargill Methodist church at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be made at Emerald Grove.

OUR COUNTY ASYLUM GETS $14,008.17

Care of Its Wards Cost the State Over Half a Million Dollars for Year Ending June 30.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 15.—It cost $612,788.95 to care for the chronic insane, inmates of the two state insane asylums, inmates of the state hospital for the feeble minded and industrial school for boys during the year ending June 30, 1906. The state board of control has made the annual appropriation of cost for caring for the insane and other committed persons, which cost has been distributed to the various counties according to law, and the proper credits have been made to the counties operating their own county asylums. The cost of each patient is figured at $3 per week, together with an allowance of about $12 a year for clothing. The state pays all for what are known as "state at large" patients, that is, patients who are in the state but have no residence such that they can be charged against any particular county. The state pays $150 a week for all patients, and the county against which any patient is charged is required by law to pay the remaining $150 a week. In each of the 30 county asylums there are patients other than those belonging to those particular counties. For each of the non-resident patients the county operating the county asylum receives $3 a week, half from the state and half from the county against which the patient is charged. The appropriation made by the state board of control shows Rock county operating its own asylum, is credited with the following amount for the year ending June 30, 1906: $14,008.17.

CHICAGO WOMAN UP FOR DRUNKENNESS

Swedish Kummel Fest in Country Caused Mrs. Neilson to Depart From City on Quick Notice.

There was an extra large number of drunks lined up in municipal court this morning and at the end of the line was Mrs. Neilson, who gave her home as Chicago. When presiding Judge Jesse Earle questioned her regarding her arrest she said she came here on a visit and yesterday went out in the country with some Swedes and had a kummel fest. When she returned to her hotel her room was locked and she went out of doors again, falling into the hands of the officers. "Well, didn't you use some pretty nasty language when the chief took you in charge?" asked His Honor, and she answered, "I'm a very nervous woman, having heart trouble, and drowsy, and with the kummel, I might have. Please, chief, won't you give me a chance to get out of town?" She assured the judge that she would depart on the first Northwestern train for Chicago if he would allow her to go. Her case was adjourned and she went with quick steps to the depot. Thomas Nash was given a fine and costs of $5.10 or ten days in jail; Richard Murphy $3.10 or six days in jail; Larry Mulcairn, five days; and John Carroll $3.10 or five days, and Albert Schultz, $3.10 or five days. Carroll paid his fine immediately.

SOMETIMES PEOPLE SAY that they want the best heating stove they can buy. When they tell us that we promptly show them the genuine ROUND OAK. We have confidence in it, for we never had a dissatisfied customer yet. After using it they come back and say more in its praise than we did when we sold it to them. Of course, there are multitudes of cheaper stoves, but what satisfaction or comfort is there in using them, they cannot last long not being heavy enough nor made good enough to be durable. Why a ROUND OAK after 15 or 20 years' service will sell for more second-hand than the cheap stove costs on the start. The ROUND OAK is moderate in price and is worth every cent of its cost. If you are going to need a heating stove we can prove to you conclusively that an investment in a genuine ROUND OAK will prove the best one you ever made in a stove, and you will say so after trying it. Look for the name "ROUND OAK." Only the genuine has it on the leg.
